

You do not need a camera crew or a budget. Every video here is filmable with your phone, a free screen recorder, and about two hours. The most effective product videos are simply the screen, recorded, with a voice explaining it.

What you need (all free)

Tool	For	Notes
Your phone's screen recorder	Recording the app	Built into Android and iPhone. Record the app on your phone — mobile footage feels more real than desktop.
OBS Studio (obsproject.com)	Recording the app on your PC	Free. Use if you want crisp desktop footage of the dashboard and charts.
CapCut	Editing, captions, music	Free, on phone or PC. Auto-captions are essential — most people watch without sound.
Your phone camera	Real vehicle shots	Film actual cars, a mechanic working, an odometer. Real local footage beats stock images.

Before you film — prepare the app so it demos well:

- Add 4–5 vehicles with real-looking plates, and give them service history over several months so the charts and alerts are populated. An empty dashboard films badly.
- Make sure at least one service is overdue so the red alert shows.
- Make sure the OpenAI credit is added — do not film the AI until it gives real answers. A demo of the offline fallback would be dishonest and you would have to reshoot.
- Turn on Do Not Disturb so notifications don't appear mid-recording.

VIDEO 1 — The 60-second demo (your main asset)

Use on: your website, Facebook, LinkedIn, WhatsApp to prospects. This is the one you send to a fleet owner who asks "what is it?"

Time	What is on screen	What you say / show
0:00–0:06 HOOK	Phone footage: a broken-down vehicle at the roadside, or a mechanic under a bonnet. Slow, real.	"A breakdown never happens at a good time. And it never really happens suddenly either."
0:06–0:14 PROBLEM	Quick cuts: a stack of paper receipts, a glovebox full of papers, someone shrugging.	"The oil change you skipped. The brake noise you ignored. Nobody remembers — because nobody is keeping track."
0:14–0:22 REVEAL	Screen recording: open Fleet Wise, the dashboard loads with vehicles, charts, and a red overdue alert.	"This is Fleet Wise AI. Every vehicle, every service, in one place." On-screen text: "All your vehicles. One place."
0:22–0:32 VALUE 1	Zoom on the red "Overdue services" tile, then the alert naming the vehicle.	"It knows when each service is due — and it emails you a week before, automatically."
0:32–0:45 THE WOW	Screen recording of the copilot: type "Which vehicle is costing me the most and why?" Let the answer appear naturally — do not speed it up.	"And you can just... ask it. In plain English. It reads your own records and answers." On-screen text: "Ask anything about your vehicles."
0:45–0:53 PROOF	Zoom on the AI's answer naming a real vehicle and amount. Hold it — let people read.	"That's not a guess. That's your own service history, read back to you."

0:53–1:00 CALL TO ACTION	Logo on a clean background, then your domain in large text.	"Fleet Wise AI. Fewer breakdowns, lower costs. Free to start." On-screen text: your domain + "Free to start"
---	--	--

Filming notes: record your voice separately in a quiet room (phone voice recorder is fine) and lay it over the footage in CapCut — it sounds far better than talking while filming. Add captions. Keep music low and instrumental, or skip it entirely; clarity beats atmosphere.

VIDEO 2 — The 20-second social clip (TikTok, Reels, WhatsApp Status)

Make several of these. They cost 15 minutes each and are your cheapest reach. The rule: the hook is the first 2 seconds — if it isn't interesting immediately, nobody sees the rest.

Time	Screen	Text on screen
0:00–0:03	Copilot open, cursor in the input box	"I asked my AI which of my cars is wasting my money 🙄"
0:03–0:08	Type the question, hit send	—
0:08–0:15	The answer appears; zoom slowly on the vehicle name and amount	"It read 6 months of my own service records."
0:15–0:20	Logo + domain	"Fleet Wise AI — free to try"

Five more hooks — film one per week

- "Your car doesn't break down suddenly. Here's the proof." → show the overdue alert that predicted it
- "I found out one of my vehicles was costing double the others." → show the cost chart
- "Adding a car takes 10 seconds — I just took a photo." → film the photo scanner filling the form
- "My phone told me my brakes were due before my mechanic did." → show the reminder email arriving
- "3 repairs on the same brakes in 6 months. That's not the car — that's the mechanic." → show the anomaly warning

That third one — the photo scanner — is your most shareable feature. Filming a phone camera reading a number plate and the form filling itself is genuinely impressive and takes 20 seconds to demonstrate. Lead with it.

VIDEO 3 — The founder story (60–90 seconds)

Post this on LinkedIn and Facebook. People in your market buy from people, not from brands — and a local founder building local software is a story worth telling.

Part	Say this, in your own words — do not read it
Open	"I'm Joshua. I build software in Cameroon. I built Fleet Wise AI because of a problem I kept seeing around me."
The why	"People here keep their vehicle records in their head, or on paper in the glovebox, or nowhere at all. So a small problem becomes a big repair, and a big repair becomes a vehicle sitting idle — and for someone

	running a transport business, an idle vehicle is lost income every single day."
The what	"So I built something that remembers for you. It keeps every service record, warns you a week before the next one is due, and lets you simply ask questions about your own vehicles in plain English."
The ask	"It's free to start. If you run vehicles — one or a hundred — I'd genuinely like your feedback. The link is below."

Film this looking straight into the phone camera, in decent daylight, near a vehicle if possible. One take, imperfect, honest — that outperforms a polished script every time. If you stumble, keep going; authenticity converts.
